Charlie Cornwell

Charlie Cornwell is a level 2 student in the Manufacturing Technology program at CAT North. The Manufacturing Technology program is perfect for Charlie because not only does he love to build and create things with his hands but he also enjoys doing math. Charlie attends Arundel High School and recently had the opportunity to play the National Anthem on his electric guitar at Arundel High Schools Band Competition.

For the past five years Charlie has had a passion for playing the electric guitar. Some of his idols include Bon Jovi, Van Halen, Ozzy Osbourne, Skid Row and Metallica.

Charlie loves working at Chuck Levin's Washington Music Center promoting their guitars. Charlie has had the pleasure of playing and promoting Chuck Levin's guitars at Merryweather Post Pavilion during rock concerts. His skills have gotten him invited backstage where he has met various artist including Scotti Hill from Skid Row. You can also find Charlie on instagram @ChuckLevins making promotional videos playing the electric guitars sold in the store.

Although Charlie's ultimate career goal is to play in a hardrock band, he plans to use the skills he has learned at CAT North to own a welding and fabrication business. Charlie gives a shout out to his parents who both work in the trades. His mother came through CAT North's Cosmetology program while his dad owns a landscaping company and custom builds and paints hot rods. Charlie enjoys making small custom parts for the hot rods.
